

AATICAM Ecotourism In the Amazon

SAVING
THE AMAZON

About us

We are indigenous peoples organized through the AATICAM (Indigenous Traditional Authorities Association of the Area of Influence of the Hydroelectric Microcenter of Mitú) indigenous association, made up of eight communities and 7 indigenous peoples.

- Cubeos
- Wananos
- Desanos
- Serianos
- Cacuas
- Tukanos
- Piratapuyos

We are located in the Great Indigenous Shelter of Vaupés. Hour and a half from the capital, Mitú, with fluvial and terrestrial access roads.

We have our own customs, beliefs, languages, history, cultural heritage and territory.

What has happened in our territory?

In 1997 the Colombian government started the construction of the Mitú Hydroelectric Power Plant, in the sacred territory and cultural heritage of the Pamiva people (Cubeos). This work generated negative consequences in social and environmental terms; especially in the territorial and cultural heritage of the Cubeo people and the surrounding communities, which was destroyed.

What do we want?

- Make visible the existence of indigenous peoples in the Amazonian territory.
- Show how government actions, without considering our needs, have affected our territory and culture.
- Promote our Ethno-Hotel Waracapuri, which contributes to our subsistence.
- Invite people to visit our Ethno-Hotel, so that the world get to know our richness in culture, gastronomy, biodiversity and contribute to the planting of trees which helps the indigenous, the protectors of the jungle.
- We ask for the support of the entire world population; for the strengthening of our cultural, linguistic, environmental and social heritage.

Waracapuri Ethno-Hotel

It offers a zone of retirement, rest and tranquility. In this region you can discover natural wonders and get in touch with indigenous communities that preserve their cultural traditions. Handicrafts and exotic foods that enrich the trip, as well as different ecological activities.

Landscapes

The immensity of the Amazon rainforest and its fauna, the majestic and mythical ravine of Waracapuri (İparäri) full of mythology, stories and legends of the Cubeo people, sons of God Cubai. Green areas, hydroelectric power station, panoramic view of the different hills.
